New York, 28 Oct., 1862.

Dear Garrison,

I salute you, once more, from my editorial chair, to which I have returned with many pleasant memories of our trip to the Green Mountain State.
I trust you got home safely, and found your family all well — not one of them suffering from the draft.

Our visit to the Shakers afforded us all great satisfaction, and we only regretted that you were not with us. We were very cordially received. I Came home on Tuesday, concluding, on account of my cold, not to visit Milton.

I found Mary Anne at home, in better health than when we parted. She unites with me in messages of love to you and yours.

Harrah for "Cedar Point."

Yours ever,

V. Johnson.
